The Institute for Education is offering educators the opportunity to join a free webinar titled, Using Theatre Workshops to Improve Wellbeing and Inclusion in Schools on the 17th March 2026, at 16:00-18:00.

The key speaker of this webinar will be Ms Eleonora Ferracci, a third-year PhD candidate at the University of Rome 'Tor Vergata'. Her research examines how integrated theatre workshops can promote school well-being among students with and without Special Educational Needs (SEN). She also collaborates in teacher education and contributes to projects in inclusive pedagogy.

Join us for this unique opportunity to explore the theatre workshop as an evidence-based, inclusive teaching practice that enhances school well-being and social participation for all learners. Participants will leave with the ability to apply multidimensional theatrical strategies aligned with Universal Design for Learning (UDL) principles, supporting diverse learning styles and fostering inclusive, engaging classroom environments.

Interested applicants are kindly asked to submit an online application by following the link: WEB10/01/2026 by 12th March 2026.
